If the bad folks can hack the computers at the highest levels of the federal government, what makes anyone think they can't hack the State of Colorado. Are we that lazy that we have to be able to vote with a push of the button on our computer at home, because it is too difficult to mark a written ballot? Voting is such a great privilege to our citizens. Let's not cheapen it or make it where it can be really defrauded by going to a computer voting system.
