Amendments to Rule 20.8.1 clarify that the affirmation required of voting system programmers must be signed by the individual programmer and submitted separately for each individual county.

Comments:

Privacy laws and company security policies, including anti-harassment and personal data sharing restrictions, prevent company disclosure of employee personnel information that is potentially subject to unwarranted distribution. Additionally, programming services are provided by, guaranteed by, and enabled by Dominion as a company. Programming an election is a combination of many Dominion employees, Dominion equipment, Dominion processes, and other Dominion resources not just one individual.
